G. P. SCHAFFER ARCHITECT

A descendant of architects and an alumnus of several leading firms—among them fellow 2012 AD100 honorees Peter Pennoyer Architects and Ferguson & Shamamian Architects—Gil Schafer has carved out a considerable niche as a builder par excellence. Keenly appreciative of vernacular expressions of 18th- and 19th-century design movements, the New York City-based classicist and his 11-person staff venerate the lessons of generations past, erecting structures warmed by historical precedence and regional appropriateness. Their projects, which include a recent Georgian-style country house in upstate New York and a restored Greek Revival mansion in Charleston, South Carolina, serve as tributes to the timeless beauty of traditional craftsmanship. gpschafer.com →
